JOINT STATEMENT REGARDING THE MODERN SLAVERY ACT 2018 (Cth) AUSTRALIA (FY2024)

1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 Reporting Entities

This joint Modern Slavery Statement (“Joint Statement”) is made in accordance with the Modern Slavery Act 2018 (Cth) (Australia) (“Australia Modern Slavery Act”) and applies to EDMI Pty Ltd (ACN 010 061 391) and EDMI Gas Pty Ltd (ACN 128 174 658), each identified as a reporting entity. This Joint Statement covers the reporting period from 1 January 2024 to 31 December 2024 (“FY2024”).

2. BUSINESS STRUCTURE, OPERATIONS AND SUPPLY CHAIN

2.1 EDMI Structure and Operations

EDMI Pty Ltd and EDMI Gas Pty Ltd (collectively “EDMI Australia”) are part of the EDMI group of companies (“EDMI Group”), with their ultimate parent company, EDMI Limited, headquartered in Singapore. EDMI Gas Pty Ltd is a wholly owned subsidiary of EDMI Pty Ltd.

EDMI Group’s business involves designing, developing and manufacturing innovative and technologically advanced energy meters and metering systems for the global utility industry. We manufacture and sell energy meters, including smart meters and provide solution services and energy management services that utilise energy measurement and control technologies, as well as solutions utilising IoT.

2.2 EDMI Supply Chain

EDMI Group works with various business partners, from suppliers for components, sub-assemblies, metering components and finished goods relating to our gas, electricity and water meter products and solutions; distributors and vendors of our products; manufacturer of our products and others.

Where possible, EDM I Group maintains multiple supply sources so that our business is not dependent on a single or limited number of suppliers. Our business partners are required to comply with applicable regulations and provide declarations to abide by our standards on quality, ethics, and human rights.

3. RISKS OF MODERN SLAVERY PRACTICES IN EDM I OPERATIONS AND SUPPLY CHAINS

EDMI Australia acknowledges the substantial global challenge and inherent risks associated with modern slavery in supply chains. These are the risk categories considered:

3.1 Forced Labour in Assembly Plants:

There is a risk of forced labour in the assembly plants where meters are manufactured, particularly in regions with less stringent labour regulations.

3.2 Exploitation in Raw Material Extraction:

The extraction of raw materials for meter manufacturing may involve exploitative working conditions, exposing workers to hazards and inadequate wages.

3.3 Child Labour in Component Manufacturing:

Subsidiary entities involved in manufacturing components for meters may inadvertently contribute to child labour, especially in regions with lax child labour regulations.

3.4 Inadequate Worker Protections in Subcontracting:

Subcontracting practices within the manufacturing process may expose workers to inadequate labour protections and exploitation as subcontractors may not adhere to the same ethical standards.

3.5 Human Trafficking in Transportation of Finished Goods:

There is a risk of human trafficking within the transportation segment of the supply chain, particularly during the transit of finished meters, especially in regions where oversight is limited.

To fulfill our commitment to eradicating modern slavery in all its forms from our operations and supply chains, EDM I Group conducts risk assessments throughout the reporting period, targeting potential areas where such practices may exist.

During FY2024, the assessment focussed on supply chain procurement activities, assessing direct suppliers, employing various criteria such as geographic risks, sourced materials, products and services, operational sectors, and supply chain models to evaluate the potential risk of modern slavery within our supply chains.

4. ACTIONS TAKEN TO ASSESS AND ADDRESS MODERN SLAVERY RISKS

4.1 Business Partners Code of Conduct:

EDMI Australia ensures that its supply chain complies to the Australia Modern Slavery Act. EDM I Group works with our business partners to ensure regular supply chain audits and site inspections are conducted. In FY2024, suppliers that meet a certain purchase threshold value and/or have a high-risk profile (“Suppliers”) were required to complete an EDM I Business Partner Code of Conduct survey.

The survey requires the Suppliers to answer various questions which included but were not limited to the Supplier’s awareness and commitment on issues pertaining to Environmental, Health and Safety Responsibility, Modern Slavery, Anti-discrimination, Child Labour and Human Rights Bribery & Kickbacks.

4.2 Employee Training Programs:

As an integral part of the new hire on-boarding process at EDM I Australia, all newly hired employees undergo comprehensive training programs specifically tailored to address modern slavery risks. These sessions are designed to impart a thorough understanding of EDM I Australia’s commitment to ethical practices and the imperative need to eradicate modern slavery from its operations. Key topics such as the professional conduct and business ethics, anti-bribery and corruption and modern slavery, identification of potential risks, and the importance of responsible decision-making are covered with the intention that such training programs empower new employees with the knowledge and tools necessary to contribute actively to the company's ethical manufacturing practices.

By instilling these principles early in their tenure, EDM I Australia hopes to ensure that all team members are aligned with the organization's values and could play a crucial role in maintaining a supply chain that is free from risks of modern slavery.

EDMI Australia's undertakes obligatory annual refresher training programme for all employees.

4.3 Supplier Audits and Certification:

EDMI Australia is committed to playing an active role in preventing modern slavery in all forms, including forced labour, child labour, and human trafficking. As part of this commitment, EDM I Australia aims to work with suppliers who share our values and take meaningful steps to uphold human rights and fair working conditions across their operations and supply chains.

4.3.1 Certifications

EDMI Group encourages its key suppliers to obtain and maintain certifications from recognised programs such as Supplier Ethical Data Exchange (SEDEX), the Responsible Business Alliance (RBA), or EcoVadis, which when applied is used to assess a range of ethical and sustainability factors, including policies and practices designed to identify, manage, and reduce the risks of modern slavery.

EDMI Australia's primary supplier is EDM I Limited. A key supply chain milestone achieved in 2024 was the successful completion of the SEDEX audit by the manufacturing business within EDM I Group.

Suppliers are expected to take responsibility for identifying and managing any potential modern slavery risks in their own operations and extended supply chains. This provides assurance to EDM I Australia that its suppliers are taking modern slavery risks seriously and are aligned with EDM I Australia's expectations for responsible and transparent business conduct.

EDMI Australia remains focused on working with suppliers who are committed to continuous improvement and raising standards in areas such as worker welfare, safe working conditions, and human rights. By building strong, ethical partnerships, EDM I Australia believes it can contribute to the broader goal of eliminating modern slavery from global supply chains.
